Rocky Not Nixon VP Choice

Disagrees With Views Of Governor

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Thursday he doesn't expect Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to be on the Republican ticket as the vice presidential candidate.

And, while he praised Rockefeller as a man of integrity, Nixon disagreed sharply with Rockefeller's contention that Nixon has not stated his position forcibly on public issues.

Asked by newsmen about accepting Rockefeller as a running mate, Nixon said:

"I can assure him that his oft repeated desire that he not be drafted as vice president certainly will be respected by me."

There was laughter at the crowded news conference—a conference Nixon called to answer Rockefeller's public challenge Wednesday to declare himself now on public issues.

Nixon said that of all the presidential candidates he has stated his position in the greatest detail.

No Holds Barred

He said he had checked just before leaving Washington and found he has held 47 news conferences of one sort or another — "with no holds barred" — in the last five months.

"Over the past 14 years," Nixon said, "in the House and the Senate and the vice presidency I have entertained questions on every major issue."

"I have set forth with great precision and major detail my views on the issues more than any other of the candidates," Nixon said.

Nixon said, however, that he would be willing to discuss with Rockefeller all the issues in depth before television cameras.

"I'm sure it can be arranged," he added.

Nixon's news conference Thursday was called to answer a statement put out by Rockefeller in New York Wednesday.

Rockefeller, without directly naming Nixon, asserted that the leading candidate for the GOP presidential nomination has failed to make his position clear on important issues.

Rockefeller, a Republican who would accept a presidential draft by his party, but who realizes that Nixon has a stranglehold on the nomination at this time, also in his statement criticized the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign policy and some important domestic issues.

The top leadership of the Republican party, however, Thursday repudiated Rockefeller's assault on the vice president and the administration.

Nixon, Rockefeller had contended, was waiting until after winning the GOP nomination in Chicago this July before making his position known. "The path of great leadership," Rockefeller said, "does not lie along the top of a fence."

All Sweetness

Nixon Thursday was all sweetness and light toward Rockefeller. He said he did not agree with his colleagues that Rockefeller should not have spoken out in criticism of the Eisenhower administration.

"I have always respected him," Nixon said of the New York governor, "as a man of integrity."

Nixon said he was confident Rockefeller made his statement because he feels such criticism is justified.

But Nixon was emphatic in his belief that Rockefeller had misrepresented the vice president's position.

Republican Heads Slap Rocky Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top leadership of the Republican party Thursday repudiated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's assault on Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Eisenhower administration policies.

But President Eisenhower was pictured as unflinched and unconvinced by the New York Republican governor's blunt suggestion that Eisenhower's defense policies have exposed the United States to danger.

Nixon appeared at a closed-door meeting of 45 state GOP chairmen, and one of them reported afterward that the vice president told the group he will stand on his public record compiled over the years. Ohio State Chairman Ray Bliss said Nixon was applauded enthusiastically.

Meanwhile, Rockefeller was on the receiving end of a pointed slap from Republican members of Congress from his own state; they overwhelmingly endorsed Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination. In New York, Rockefeller shuffled this off, saying, "Is there anything new about that?"

Demos Cheer

The Democrats, who have a habit of squabbling among themselves, stood on the sidelines and gleefully cheered the GOP on in its family fight.

"It looks like there is some life in the old elephant yet," quipped Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, a contender for the nomination to lead his party against the Republicans in the presidential battle this fall.

After a White House meeting, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen Rockefeller's criticism of Eisenhower administration defense policy "adds up to an unfortunate statement because it will register abroad."

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who accompanied Dirksen to the meeting with Eisenhower, said the President still feels his defense program is adequate for the times.

Eisenhower Noticing

Prodded by reporters for an account of Eisenhower's reaction to the Rockefeller blast, Dirksen said the President had taken "judicial notice" of it. He described Eisenhower as convinced a good job is being done by Pentagon chiefs and members of Congress concerned with national security.

In another part of the city, Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton told questioners he regarded the Rockefeller statement as an attack on the Eisenhower record.

Morton, a senator from Kentucky, acknowledged Rockefeller's right to make known his opinions. But the GOP party chairman said he is proud of the Eisenhower record, and that he believes most Republicans are, too.

As for the impact of Rockefeller's stand, Morton said he doesn't expect it will hurt the party, nor influence the outcome of the November elections one way or the other.

Killing Chance

At the same time, however, Morton made plain he regards the Rockefeller move as killing whatever slight chance the governor might have to wrest the GOP presidential nomination from Nixon at this late date.

When a reporter wanted to know if he thought a Republican who had been so critical of the Eisenhower record could be nominated for president on the GOP ticket, Morton replied: "No, frankly I do not."

Morton said he anticipated that Rockefeller's name will be placed before the party convention in Chicago late next month, and that there will be a contest for the standard-bearer's spot.

But the Republican party chairman predicted it would be hard to overcome a big lead in delegate strength he credited to Nixon. And in a talk later, he made a further prediction that Nixon would win the nomination on the first ballot, perhaps without any contest.

Challenging Rockefeller's contention that Nixon has not discussed the issues, Morton said the vice president has spoken out since entering public life 13 years ago and "no one is in the dark as to how he feels."

Expressed Views

Nixon's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, also disputed Rockefeller on this.

"I think the record will show he has expressed his views," Klein said, and cited 19 news conferences, 14 question-and-answer programs, 16 radio and TV appearances this year alone.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) volunteered the comment that Rockefeller has become "the rich man's Harold Stassen."

Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Theodore Edmonds, Bonton, N. J. Funeral services will be Monday at 2 p. m. in Blairtown. Burial will be in Cedar Ridge Cemetery there.

William H. Clark funeral home is in charge of local arrangements.

Nixon Aides Win Key GOP Berths

WASHINGTON (AP) — Staunch backers of Vice President Richard M. Nixon won key positions Thursday for the Republican National Convention starting in Chicago July 25.

Chosen as permanent chairman was Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. The keynoter will be Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, and the temporary chairman Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia.

Their selection was made by an arrangements committee. They are subject to routine approval Friday by the Republican National Committee.

The arrangements group named Elizabeth E. Heffelfinger of Minnesota as convention secretary. It also ratified the earlier selection of Charles H. Percy, 40, of Chicago, as chairman of the platform committee and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, 38, of Wisconsin as vice chairman.

Minority Leader

The 59-year-old Halleck is minority leader of the House and is serving his 13th term in Congress. He ousted Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts as House GOP leader in January 1959, and succeeds to the chairmanship held by Martin at the last five GOP conventions.

While avowedly a neutral as far as selection of a presidential nominee is concerned, Halleck has been a Nixon supporter and had the backing of Nixon's House forces in his successful fight to oust Martin.

Halleck long has been "available" as a vice-presidential candidate.

9th House Term

Judd is 61 and is serving his ninth House term. A former medical missionary in China, he is considered a specialist on Far Eastern matters and has a wide reputation as a speaker. He has been a Nixon backer and has described Nixon as "captain of the new team."

The 37-year-old Underwood is a comparative newcomer to national politics. His selection as temporary chairman was expected to give a boost to his campaign for the Senate seat now held by Jennings Randolph, a Democrat.

Nixon will address an open session of the national committee Saturday morning.

Shows May Go On Monday On Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—A peace formula was worked out Thursday to end Broadway's week-long, million-dollar stage blackout. It could turn the footlights up again by Monday.

Theater ticket offices reopened immediately upon news of the settlement pact. There was no immediate word from producers whether the peace terms would mean a boost in ticket prices.

Actors Equity an the League of New York Theaters scheduled membership meetings late Thursday night to vote on the agreement reached by their negotiators. If approved, the stage shows will reopen Monday.

Spokesmen for both sides predicted membership approval. Terms of the settlement, worked out under the direction of City Labor Commissioner Harold A. Felix, were not announced. The actors' union had pressed for a pension plan and minimum wage increases.

Tennessee Boy Spelling Champion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1960 National Spelling Bee championship was won Thursday by Henry Feldman, 13, of Oak Ridge, Tenn. The word he won with was "eudaemonic," which means producing happiness.

Teary-eyed Henry's word for the whole affair was a simple "wonderful," which was a victory circle of well-wishers and signed autographs.

The nation's new No. 1 youthful speller was born in the atomic city of Oak Ridge, Tenn., where his father, Cyrus Feldman, is a spectrochemist.

But "I'm not radioactive," said Henry with a grin.

Aside from spelling bees, which he has entered for years, Henry is interested in mathematics, electricity, trumpet playing and track.

Girls have been beating boys 2-1 in these contests and the entry list this year was a topheavy 48 girls to 25 boys. A boy also won last year, however.

Henry's secret weapon was studying word lists from past national contests.

20th In 1959

He came in 20th in 1959. The studies paid off as he defeated tiny Betty Jean Altschul, 12, Norfolk, Va., in a tense final spelloff.

Henry recognized most of the words as old friends.

Only in the eighth grade now, he said he'll probably stop away his $1,000 prize money toward college. But he'll use right now a weekend sightseeing trip to New York that's part of the payoff for spelling down 72 other contestants in the two-day battle of words sponsored by Scripps-Howard and other newspapers.

Dark-haired Betty, a seventh grader and accomplished piano player, delivered every word with a smile until a tearful ending. She made her big slip on the word "vellety," which means the lowest degree of desire, mere willingness. She misspelled it "vele-ite."

Representing 17 different colleges, the girls soon found mutual interests, acquaintances, and hobbies and set about their first major duty which will be to select one of their number as Queen to rule over the Festival. Laurel made its first appearance at the festival in corsages and table decorations.

At a dinner in the Regina Suite, with Mrs. Regina O'Neill and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Schuchard as hosts, the girls also had a chance to get acquainted with the committee chairman of the Laurel Blossom Festival, sponsored by the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau.

On hand to offer official greetings were Mayor Edward Doran of Stroudsburg and Mayor Jesse Flory, of East Stroudsburg, and to introduce the girls: Sally Ferree, director of the Festival and Tom Waring, chairman.

Fresh From Exams

Sixteen of the 17 princesses arrived fresh from final examinations and end-of-school activities but eager for new experiences. The 17th, Sandra Rupert, of Moravian College, is ill but expects to join the festivities today.

Carol Riley, Drexel Hill, a student at East Stroudsburg State College, was host princess. Others included Constance Adler, Miss Penn State; Miss Joelyn Borell, Muhlenberg; Joan Copola, Montclair Teachers; Margaret Corbett, Syracuse University; Mary Corcoran, Marywood College; Drusilla Crebbin, Temple University; Johanna Fox, Hood College; Barbara Frank, University of Delaware; Judith Goss, Bloomsburg State College; Martha Hunter, Wilson; Phyllis Lever, University of Maryland; Phoebe Neiswenter, Kutztown State; Kristen Ostergard, Centenary College; Suzanne Still, Cedar Crest College; Patricia Wayne, University of Pennsylvania.

Also on hand to welcome them were hosts, Mrs. O'Neill and Mr. and Mrs. Schuchard; Mr. and Mrs. William Altier, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fossa, Bobby Westbrook, Madelyn Maloney, Joe Whalen, Marian Meyer and S. Clair Smith, representing press, radio and the Vacation Bureau. Rev. Harold Durken gave the invocation.

After dinner and a recording session, the girls scattered to their respective host hotels, to meet again at luncheon today. After luncheon they will vote on their queen, and the sealed ballots will not be opened until an hour and a half before the Coronation ceremony this afternoon at Pocono Manor.

Foreign Aid Funds Cut Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee on appropriations Thursday approved a cut of almost 800 million dollars in foreign aid funds requested by President Eisenhower.

The 12-member subcommittee headed by Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.) was reported to have recommended $2,384,500,000 in new funds for the program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The subcommittee's action is subject to review next Monday by the entire 50-member Appropriations Committee.

Passman declined to discuss the subcommittee's action with newsmen pending the full committee's decision. But other members confirmed that a cut of about 800 million dollars was voted.

They said the committee wrote into the bill new language to guard against waste in the aid program.

Passman earlier had called for a cut of more than a billion dollars from funds requested by the President.

Missing Caretaker Found Alive Lying In Woods

VICTOR MOHR, 84-year-old caretaker at Achela Boy Scout Camp in Tobyhanna Township, was found lying in a heavily wooded area last night — more than two days after he was reported missing.

Mohr was admitted to Wilkes-Barre General Hospital for treatment. At a late hour last night, no condition report was available.

State Police of the Fern Ridge barracks, who supervised the search, said, however, that Mohr appeared to be in "pretty good shape" when found.

Mohr was in a semi-conscious state, troopers said, but was able to recognize his son. They said he appeared to be suffering from exposure.

Mohr was found by a group of five Boy Scouts about one mile from the place where he was last seen about 2 p.m. Tuesday. The Scouts spotted him about 8:30 p.m., lying face down along a ridge near a water tower.

They were led to him by his cane and hat which were in a hollow nearby.

The area where Mohr was found had been searched previously. At one time, it was estimated a search party was within 40 feet of Mohr but did not see him because of dense underbrush.

Boy Scouts from Wilkes-Barre, Forty Fort and Kingston, as well as area residents, had searched all day Wednesday for Mohr without success.

An Army helicopter from Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot was also pressed into the hunt and yesterday a bloodhound, owned by Edgar Clemson of Norristown, was brought into the search.

Mohr apparently became ill while walking through the woods. He has been caretaker at the camp, north of Blakeslee Corners, for 30 years.

Boredom Chief Problem In Bomb Shelter Housing

PITTSBURGH (AP)—How do 30 men, women and children feel living in a 12-by-20 foot bomb shelter? The big problem is chasing boredom.

The cubicle became home for the group last Sunday in an experiment by the American Institute for Research for the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

The experiment is to learn the most efficient way to construct bomb shelters and conduct life in them in the event of a real disaster.

The group includes several families. They range in age from 7 to 72. All volunteered for the test and will get $50 each.

Gallon Per Person

The oldest is Miss Laura B. Ellis. "I still have a lot of curiosity and I figure I might as well know what's going on," she said on entering the shelter.

Water for drinking and food preparation during the two-week test will be limited to 40 gallons, about one gallon a day per person.

There is running water for washing, but there is no sink. The washing will be done in buckets. Drinking and cooking water is metered.

There is a carefully selected stock of canned cooked foods which need only heating on a two-place electric hot stove.

The bunks are slung four-high around the walls. They were not designed for comfort. They are 6 by 2 feet and the mattresses are thin.

A team of doctors and scientists watch the shelter refugees constantly through one-way windows. Barring illness or other emergency the group will not withdraw until June 19.

So far no health problems have occurred. The only casualties have been a woman splashed with hot coffee and a girl who touched a hot light bulb.

Monitored

Conversation is monitored and recorded, and the minute-by-minute sound level is metered.

There is only one toilet in the shelter. Even its frequency of use is being recorded to test the adequacy for a group this size.

The most popular recreation is talking. Dr. James W. Altman, the experiment director, says it's mostly light talk with lots of kidding.

Of the games available cards are the most popular. There are also chess and checkers. Nobody minds a little kibitzing.

Pennsylvania AFL-CIO Born With 1,500,000 Merge

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pennsylvania AFL-CIO was born Thursday as the AFL Pennsylvania Federation of Labor and the State CIO Industrial Union Council merged their approximately 1,500,000 members.

Delegates greeted the merger politely, but not enthusiastically as executive officers of the new organization accepted the charter from Secretary-Treasurer William F. Schnitzler of the AFL-CIO International Union.

Co-president Joseph Burke, an AFL man who only Wednesday said he was "not greatly happy" with the merger, alluded to the marriage of the two groups in a brief address to the delegates.

"We are going to try to make this marriage a long, happy and successful," he said.

Concerning his relationship with Harry Boyer, the other co-president, Burke said: "I hope we'll work together like a couple of happily married men."

Co-Presidents

Burke and Boyer will serve as co-presidents at salaries of $16,000 until 1962. Harry Block is secretary and Earl C. Bohr is treasurer. Thirty vice presidents, 15 from each group, also are on the executive council.

The Pennsylvania Jointure leaves New Jersey as the only state in which the AFL and CIO, combined nationally in 1955, are not merged.

Gov. Lawrence told delegates one of their first orders of business should be an investigation of using union financial resources as an investment against unemployment.

"You may, if you see fit, invest bonds, make loans and help to finance mortgages in support of industrial development funds in our labor surplus communities," Lawrence said, adding:

"I can think of no greater contribution to the welfare of our fellow workers in this state than to share in the challenging effort to provide work for everyone who wants a job."

Critiques

Lawrence also took advantage of another opportunity to criticize the Eisenhower administration. Pointing out that the need for a distressed areas bill is "quite clear," Lawrence said:

"...through some mysterious arithmetic all their own, the advisors who surround the President came up with a limit for the bill."

Lawrence said further that the "PENNA DUTCH" for Septic Tanks - Cesspools Ends Cleaning NON-CHEMICAL Penna. Dutch Septic Tank Food, used regularly, will keep your sewage system in full bacterial growth year round. Flush through your commode it floats to the sludge mass, stimulates bacteria growth, turning sludge to liquid, allowing it to flow freely into the disposal field.

Help For Chile

The knowledge that hundreds of thousands of Chileans are cold, sick, injured and homeless has touched the hearts of Monroe Countians as it has other Americans. Several hundred dollars have been contributed to the Red Cross chapter here by individuals anxious to help the earthquake victims.

It's a natural characteristic of Americans to want to help people in trouble the world over. The Chilean disaster has proved no exception. Committees for Chilean relief are forming throughout the nation. Tons of food, medical supplies, tents and other aid have been airlifted to help the homeless and helpless.

But this is only the beginning. American Red Cross disaster experts in the disaster-stricken country report a long-range recovery program of gigantic proportions is needed to put Chile back on its feet.

The supplies are certainly needed. But a look at the map proves that the most efficient way we Americans can help is with funds. Nearly 5,000 miles separate us from the stricken area. The cost of collecting, packing and shipping donations would be staggering.

But with money, the urgently needed help can be purchased in areas near to the disaster scene and promptly distributed to points where it will do the most good.

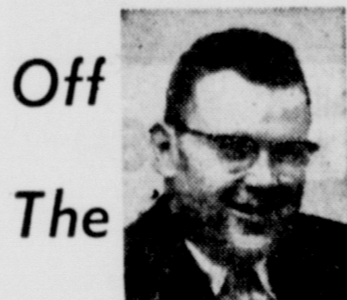

That's why we urge immediate contributions to the American Red Cross or other agencies having programs in Chile. They include Catholic Relief Service, Church World Service, CARE, Seventh Day Adventists Welfare Service, and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

All are working closely with the Red Cross, whose president, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, is acting as coordinator for voluntary Chilean relief at the request of President Eisenhower.

As Gen. Gruenther has said, "The impact of voluntary contributions by individuals on the suffering people of Chile will be tremendous."

There's diamonds in these hills. No, not the type that made Kimberly, South Africa famous but the ones that adorn imitation jewelry.

Where are they found? Well, the shiny, glistening pieces are being blown out of the ground at the Stroudsburg Thruway construction site.

They are in the form of a rock and take various colors before they come out into the glassy figure of white or blue.

Curious folks have been seen with their chisels and hammers going over the debris at the Thruway searching for the souvenirs.

Nobody will get rich on their findings but it would be awful hard to notice the difference between the real stuff and the ones found at the Thruway. Of course an expert would know but we're not experts.

Bill Hay, the old Lafayette grad and footballer, was telling friends the other night of his days under Hooks Mylin and Ernie Nevers, when the latter two coached the grid sport at the Easton college.

Bill now takes his exercise in ping pong and umpires Little League games in East Stroudsburg.

Ency Shlek is back in town. The tow-headed lass who worked for the Daily Record the past two summers will replace Bobby Westbrook while the social editor tours Europe with Ruth Brown, another Record gal.

Ency, a resident of Delaware, will enter her junior year at Colby College, Maine, next Fall.

Rivals Woo Adlai

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Adlai Stevenson is getting a big rush from the two front runners in the Democratic Presidential race.

Senators Lyndon and John Kennedy are very eager to win the backing of the 1952-56 standard bearer, but so far they have had no luck. He has told both he is "endorsing no one before the convention."

The former Illinois Governor turned Kennedy down despite the fact that William Blair, Stevenson's law partner, favors the New Englander and is boosting him.

The two candidates made their pleas to Stevenson personally. Johnson talked to him May 15 in Washington. Kennedy had breakfast with Stevenson at his Libertyville, Ill., farm on May 21.

Tennessee backers of Johnson also are vigorously seeking a declaration from Senator Estes Kefauver, running mate with Stevenson in 1956. But, like the latter, Kefauver is shying away from publicly announcing a preference before the Los Angeles convention.

The Tennesseean is up for reelection this year, and faces tough opposition particularly on the integration issue, on which he has taken a moderate stand. So he is carefully skirting the increasingly hot Presidential scramble.

Stevenson's wait-until-the-convention stand is quite satisfactory to Senator Johnson.

If Stevenson sticks by that, the Texan has a lot to gain. So long as Stevenson is even remotely a nomination possibility, his ardent partisans won't switch to anyone else.

Illustrative of this is the disclosure of the Madison, Wis., Capital Times that four Humphrey delegates "are ready to vote for Stevenson."

In seeking Stevenson's endorsement, Senator Kennedy stressed that he had won the backing of Governor Mennen Williams and the bulk of Michigan's 52 delegates; also this would shortly be announced.

Kennedy made no bones he felt an endorsement by Stevenson would virtually ensure his nomination on the first ballot.

"It's the one big breakthrough I need, Governor," Kennedy urged.

But, while friendly and cordial, Stevenson refused to budge.

"I have taken the position that I will not come out for anyone before the convention," he said, "and I still think that's the best course to pursue."

When Kennedy suggested he talk to him again, after Governor Williams' endorsement, Stevenson readily agreed. But so far he had not changed his mind about not declaring for any candidate.

A Stevenson intimate, asked if this means he is still in the race despite his repeated disclaimers, replied smilingly, "Well, he can hope, can't he? No law against that!"

Politicians — Michigan State Chairman Neil Staebler is a strong possibility as campaign manager for Senator John Kennedy, if he wins the nomination. In fact, Staebler might also be the choice of Senators Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington for this key job. They too rate Staebler as with-out peer as a political organizer and director. . . . They also consider in that class Connecticut State Chairman John Bailey, who has been one of Kennedy's closest advisers. In one capacity or another, both Staebler and Bailey are certain to play major roles in the election battle. . . . Controversial Paul Butler is on the way out both as National Chairman and Indiana National Committee-man, but he still hopes to land a top spot in the fall campaign. The big question is—who with? Mayor Robert Wagner will definitely head New York's 115 vote delegation—largest at the convention. This has been secretly decided by state party leaders, and both Carmine DeSapio, Tammany chief and National Committeeman, and former Governor Harriman have been told that. . . . Neal Roach, former National Committee official, is joining the campaign staff of Senator Johnson. Roach will concentrate on setting up the Texan's convention floor organization, a crucially important factor.

A sizzling three-way fight has developed for the Democratic nomination to succeed Senator Theodore Green, 93-year-old Rhode Islander who is voluntarily retiring. Hot after the prize are Howard McGrath, former Senator, Attorney General in the Truman Cabinet, and one-time National Democratic Chairman; Ex-Governor Dennis Roberts, defeated in 1958 despite a Democratic sweep in his state; and Borden Pell, member of the National Democratic Political Advisory Committee.

McGrath backers are claiming Truman has offered to campaign for him, notwithstanding their 1952 break, when Truman "fired" McGrath as Justice Department head.

Biological Clock

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

All of you, I'm sure, realize the importance of clocks. You get up by the clock, you work by the clock, you eat by the clock and you go to bed by the clock.

Well, in a way, you also grow, develop and age by the clock. And when it runs down, you die by the clock.

"Biological Clocks"

We believe this time sequence to be the work of "biological clocks." The entire process of life is run by them, according to a University of Minnesota study.

Think of it in this manner: countless clocks, running at different speeds in different time zones within the body, are set and reset by events in our environment such as daylight and night. We eat, play and work during the daytime; we sleep and rest our bodies at night.

Other Theories

There are some theories that menstruation is paced by the moon, although this has yet to be proven. It does indicate, however, another time factor.

Studies of these "biological clocks" indicate that there is a time and a season for all things.

As for medicine, there is a time to operate and a time not to operate; a good time to administer drugs and a poor time to administer them. There is a time to make x-rays and a time not to make them; there is a time to rouse a patient and a time to let him sleep.

The University of Minnesota scientists, studying the "biological clocks" under grants from the American Cancer Society, have found that organisms can take stresses much better during one period of the day than they can at other times. There are peaks of high resistance and low resistance.

And, the scientists report, these peaks are different for different agents.

Mice Affected, Too

Tests on mice show that they are especially vulnerable to certain toxins at about 4 p.m. and least vulnerable at about 8 a.m. Thus, a poison which would have little effect upon them in the early morning, would kill them quickly if taken several hours later.

The mice are most susceptible to alcohol at 8 in the evening. But mice are nocturnal creatures and rest during the day. Most humans rest at night, so our peak susceptibility might be the opposite of that of our mouse friends.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. B. J.: Are raw eggs especially good for a TB patient? Would inhaling fresh air each morning be helpful to a person with active TB?

Answer: Adequate diet and good ventilation are useful in the treatment of active tuberculosis, but are definitely secondary to rest, specific drugs and other methods of treatment.

Then there's the one about The Cwaziest Turtle. . . . Keeps making passes at Helms! . . . Middtown Vignette: At the Copa-Darlin premiere colymbist Earl Wilson and his Ever-Lovin' Rosemary had the adjacent table.

"What's that pained expression for?" he asked us. "I was showing off again on the dance floor," we told him, "and I tried to make like Gene Kelly and Tony DeMarco at the same time and wound up with the same thing I had at the Vegas Tropics — sacro-lumbar! I wish you had it instead of meeeeee! Ouch!"

"That's one thing," was the retort, "I'm not imitating you at!"

Until a law is provided which strictly limits election costs and makes it a felony to spend one cent more; until such a law excludes every possible gimmick, including under-the-table cash contributions and the organization of committees only to receive additional contributions — until this happens our elections will not be fair.

Some of them will be crooked. The British manage to have clean elections. Their laws are strict and are strictly enforced.

It is absurd that Presidential elections should cost millions of dollars, the amount constantly increasing. It will soon be that only a multi-millionaire, a servant of the larger labor unions or a minion of the racketeers will be able to raise enough money to pay for the costs of an election.

If every candidate were required to swear to a statement of total expenditures in both primary and general elections, including every under-the-table contribution made not directly but to associates and members of the family, few men would dare to run under present conditions.

One of the principal costs is television. Candidates should have suitable time on television free of charge. That would be a reward for the people of the United States providing air waves free of charge, a practical monopoly to a restricted number of users. On this subject, Robert W. Sarnoff of the National Broadcasting Company had this to say:

"Another aspect of proposed legislation demonstrates how ill-conceived regulation can breed problems that beget still more regulation. An example is the recent bill that would make broadcasters give at least eight hours of free evening time to the Presidential nominees of the two major parties during the election campaign."

"Here is a bill that would unfairly compel broadcasters to do what they have in the past been prevented from doing by the impractical restrictions of Section 315 of the Communications Act."

"Those restrictions made it impossible for a broadcaster to present the major-party candidates for President without giving equal time to every other candidate for the office. In 1956, that would have meant some 15 hour candidates."

Devoting hour upon hour to the often quixotic antics of little known minority and splinter-group candidates would have been an unreasonable price on the public's patience and a disservice to common sense."

There is economic but not political sophistication in Sarnoff's statement. The economics are sound because it is not good business to put the full cost of the campaign on this one industry.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Art Is Big Business

Dear Editor: Professor Robert Wolbach, a pinch is a very real experience expressed verbally by "ouch" which has genuine semantic value! If the murky mire of sludgy oil entitled, Delaware Water Gap by Cullen Yates is the "brilliant flamboyance of impressionism I must beg Renoir's pardon and say 'ouch.'"

Why do critics, who express themselves with words, value one painting above another? Because a painting must grip the viewer not only with form and color in themselves, but with an ideal that will live on after the observation.

Art critics do have standards of judgment each unto himself.

The real culprits of art are the galleries that push masses of nothing for personal gain. Let's face it—oil on canvas is big business.

MONTREAL (AP)—Aluminum Ltd. has withdrawn a proposal to purchase the assets of the Apex Smelting Co. of Chicago because of indicated objections from the U.S. Department of Justice.

Aluminum, big Canadian producer which sells only primary aluminum in this country, last December said it planned to purchase the Chicago firm, a leading secondary smelter of aluminum.

This would provide more facilities for serving independent fabricators of the metal in this country, the company said.

Keystone, Jersey Agree On Licenses

POCONO MANOR—Highway officials in Pennsylvania and New Jersey have an agreement in principle to eliminate the problem of double jeopardy in the suspension of drivers' licenses in the two states.

Such was the statement made yesterday by O. D. Shipley, Pennsylvania commissioner of traffic safety, in a speech before the 54th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation here.

"In recent meetings," he said, "we have come to complete agreement that the principles of suspending drivers' licenses in Pennsylvania and New Jersey on separate occasions for a single offense are highly undesirable and must be eliminated."

"Although we have an agreement covering this administrative details remain to be worked out. If our plans materialize we should get the program under way in a very short time."

Suspensions for an offense in either state will run concurrently in both states, instead of consecutively, under the new plan, Shipley explained. This will prevent any stretch-out of suspension beyond the period specified.

Driver Behavior

During a panel discussion yesterday, three views on "Driver Behavior" were outlined.

Judge Dale F. Shughart, Cumberland County, expressed the belief that cases involving juvenile drivers should remain in the hands of the juvenile courts rather than be transferred to the traffic courts. The present system permits each case to be handled on an individual basis, he said, and thereby makes rehabilitation of the driver easier where necessary.

A practical approach to solving the traffic safety problem was advocated by Matthew C. Sielski, director of traffic safety, Chicago Motor Club.

In expressing his opposition to any crash program, he pointed out that we have better drivers today than in years past. Sielski cited safety records to show that, although traffic has doubled in 25 years, the number of fatalities has declined one-third in the same period.

Attitudes

Dr. James L. Malfetti, safety research executive officer, Columbia University, observed that we are paying a lot of attention to the physical qualifications of operators but doing little or nothing to evaluate driver attitudes. In his opinion, the attitude of the person behind the wheel of a motor vehicle has a bigger bearing on traffic safety than the person's physical qualifications.

The AAA-PMF convention closes today with the report of the nominating committee and an address prepared by Ellis Armstrong, U. S. commissioner of public roads and read by an assistant. Armstrong is unable to deliver the speech in person because of a highway hearing he is attending in Boston.

During the 18th Century there were no aisles in English theaters. Audiences sat on long benches without backs.

The purpose of the parley is believed to be a discussion of the type of safety device to be placed by the DL & W Railroad at the crossing.

Also announced was that on June 15, in the basement of the courthouse, surplus food would be given out.

The office personnel reported near completion of their work on the preparation of duplicate tax forms. The forms will be mailed out to the various tax collectors when completed.

"The Daily Record is proud to have played a small part in bringing this benefit to a most happy conclusion."

"The management of The Daily Record feels it is the responsibility of a community newspaper to play a part in all community activities within its circulation area. Events such as this have a way of making The Daily Record feel it is a living part of the Poconos."

Thomas L. Kistler, YMCA president, said:

"Speaking for the board of directors of the YMCA of Monroe County, I wish to thank every one who helped in the Jabberwock program."

"The wholehearted response of so many people has made a big undertaking possible. The results of your effort will strengthen the work of the association and contribute in no small way to the services which are being rendered to the youth of our county."

Poor Oil Delays Work

FRANK SMITH, Monroe County superintendent of highways, said last night, "The reason for the delay in the paving of route 461 E. from Shawnee to Regina's, is the rejection of the oil for not meeting state specifications."

A brakeman for the Lehigh Valley Railroad for many years, he retired 16 years ago. He was born in New Jersey, the son of Charles and Mary Jane Curtis Murren.

State Liquor Sales Soar

HARRISBURG (AP)—State liquor store sales soared to a record $285,112,117 during the fiscal year ended May 31, the State Liquor Control Board reported Thursday.

The figure surpassed the previous record of $275,763,844 set during the previous year.

The agency earned $79,444,830. The board said it collected $9,083,688 under the sales tax during the remainder of the fiscal year. It said the total sales figure did not include sales tax collections but did include revenue from the 10 per cent tax.

The annual report also said that state store sales for the first five months of 1960 were running 4.89 per cent ahead of the comparable period last year. The total sales for the five months, including the 10 per cent state tax, was $111,097,063.

In addition, the board said, sales tax collections for the five-month period amounted to $4,350,276.

Vatican Bans Machine Guides

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican has banned mechanical tourist guides—dubbed "ecclesiastical juke boxes" by Italians—from all Rome churches.

The devices contain a tape recording operated when a coin is inserted, with the information heard through earphones in English, German, French or Spanish.

The Congregation of Rites said it acted because tourists were distracted during religious ceremonies.

The Villa Carlotta in the Lake Como region of Italy has a relief frieze, "The Triumph of Alexander," which was sculpted in 1811 by order of Napoleon.

W. A. Coberly Graduates At Cobleskill

Dear Abby

Where There's A Will

Dear Abby: What is a wife supposed to do when her husband brings home unexpected company for dinner? He has done this to me several times and I get so mad at him I could break every dish in the house.

There are just the two of us and sometimes I have planned a very simple pick-up supper or just left-overs.

"Don't fuss," he tells me (right in front of them). "They'll eat anything you have." Can you tell me how to handle this awkward situation?

NOT PREPARED
Dear Not Prepared: In this enlightened age of the freezer and canned goodies there is no reason for a woman to be caught with her cupboard bare. Keep something on hand for just such occasions. And if you are too rattled to start cooking or thawing — just start dressing and let hubby take everyone out to dine. (That'll cure him.)

Dear Abby: I have been going with a married man for ten years. If his wife hadn't made him happy in the thirty years she has had him, why doesn't she step aside and give someone else a chance? She knows about this affair. If I were in her place I would never stand for it, but she has no pride.

Sometimes the "other woman" in the triangle is right. I believe I am. Why not have TWO happy people instead of THREE unhappy ones? I am tired of the few hours we have to be content with every week.

Print this. It may help the wife see things as they are.

THE OTHER WOMAN
Dear Other Woman: There are many reasons why a wife refuses to "step aside and give someone else a chance". First, she has respect for her marriage vows. Then, there could also be children and, finally, there is the ever lasting hope that her husband will wake up and live right! When the flame dies (and it will!) the wife will have a husband in her old age. What will you have besides a guilty conscience and an aged chassis that no man wants?

Dear Abby: I don't know how to solve my problem without causing family trouble.

I have relatives who call my doctor and ask him questions about my condition. They know more about me than I know. I am over 21 and am not in critical condition. I am not financially obligated to them and I wouldn't think of calling their doctors and asking embarrassing questions. What does a refined woman do in a case like?

CONVALESCING
Dear Convolescing: A doctor does not give out information that could be embarrassing to his patient, so leave it in his hands and don't worry.

ELMER
Dear Elmer: Why does a woman say she's been "shopping" when she hasn't bought anything?

What's your problem? Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-Ager", is on sale at all bookstores.

In Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — India's finance minister, Moraji Desai, who stands next to Prime Minister Nehru in the Indian political hierarchy, is on a three-day official visit to Yugoslavia discussing mutual help with the Tito government.

Wanted By FBI

JOSEPH CORBETT, JR., one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives," is wanted for escape from the California Institution for Men, Chino, Calif., where he was serving a five years' to life sentence for murdering an Air Force sergeant.

A Federal warrant was issued at Los Angeles, Calif., on March 21, 1960, charging him with unlawful interstate flight to avoid confinement for murder.

A white American, born on Oct. 25, 1928, at Seattle, Wash., Corbett is 6 feet 1 inch to 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 160 to 170 pounds. He has light brown hair, hazel eyes, a fair complexion, a medium build, and has worked as a clerk-typist, laborer, warehouseman, laboratory technician, and alkyd-resin cooker for a paint manufacturer.

His two upper front teeth slant inward and he wears glasses, reportedly being extremely nearsighted and capable of seeing only close objects without them. He has a mole under his chin and a C-shaped scar on his right thumb.

Corbett, once a premedical student, is interested in scientific matters, avidly reads technical and travel books, and is intensely interested in firearms and target practice. He reportedly has a superior general intelligence and generally lives quietly and neatly but becomes erratic when drinking alcoholic beverages.

Convicted of second - degree murder, he is considered armed and dangerous.

Anyone having information concerning him should immediately notify the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which can be found on the first page of local telephone directories.

Youth Worker Kills Principal

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A youth worker walked into a suburban school with a shotgun yesterday and killed the principal he had befriended for two years.

Then, after returning to his home, he played catch with his three children, read his son the Cub Scouts' oath, told him to live by it, and called police.

County Atty. Robert Johnson said Lester Betts, 37, a former president of the Blaine Parent-Teachers Assn., killed Carson Hammond, 33, in apparent jealousy over the relationship between his wife and Hammond.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You're going to love the Princesses this year. They're pretty, they're smart, and they're friendly. The official adults, sprinkled at the various tables at the opening dinner last night, were enchanted, and each one thought he had The Queen at his table.

Actually, the officials won't have a thing to say about the selection which will be the problem of the girls themselves. And among Sally Ferrebee's problems last night was one little Princess who succumbed, either to excitement or a "bug," and had to be put to bed.

Don't be silly — it couldn't be chicken pox! But wouldn't polka dotted Princesses be something? Of course they'll all be well today, and the sun will shine, and you'll all have a wonderful time.

It seems so queer to think I'll be missing it all. But if you think I'm brooding you don't know how high I've been flying these last few days. You have all been so wonderful. I haven't even been able to buy an ice cream soda, with everybody speeding me on my way.

On top of all the "gag" gifts: like fake passports, and empty pepto-bismal bottles for "Roman tummy," and long-dead corsages, there have been so many clever things: like stamped airmail envelopes, with my address in Rome already written on which were handed out to friends; like a story on a Roman girl cut from the New Yorker; like my set of Italian records; like travel books and magazines on Rome; like the colored film for pictures.

And so many useful gifts: including things that are light in weight and easy to pack, like money! I've been touched and humbled, almost to the point of tears, by your thoughtfulness.

Until suddenly the question popped up: Just why is everybody so glad I'm going? There are two ways to look at it, you know

Lions Hear Speech By SU Teacher

PAUL HAMEL, language teacher in Stroud Union High School and a graduate of the American university in Istanbul, Turkey, lectured before the Stroudsburg Lions Club Tuesday night at its dinner meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel telling of present day stress and trouble in the Ottoman Republic and showing colored pictures of the ancient capital.

He showed pictures of ancient fortifications of the city, told of and depicted the vast number of mosques and added that there is no Communist problem in Turkey. He explained that Communism being so closely identified with Russia is really anathema to the Turks, who have fought their great Northern neighbor in 13 bloody wars.

He gave as his opinion that the Russians could probably roll over Turkey in a matter of weeks and the Moslems are well aware of that but that they would die to the very last man and make the conquerors pay a terrible price. Istanbul, he said, is claimed to be built on seven hills but the hills would be hard to identify today. It is an old, old city and has vast slum areas which are poor indeed.

The lecturer analyzed the facts behind the present resistance to the ideas and system of Premier Mendarais, who had been hailed as saving Turkey from old abuses, had seized dictatorial power, and the students spear-headed the present revolt to obtain relief from Mendarais.

In the business session, the club debated as to holding Summer meetings out through the county. President Kopenhaver stated that there are many drawbacks to this time-honored practice.

Glen Brook Women Back National Golf Day In Force

THE WOMEN'S Golf Assn. at Glen Brook Country Club, kicked off National Golf Day in vol-um Thursday.

Twenty-five members of the group paid $1 each to try to top the winner's score in the Billy Casper-Bob Rosburg "Round of Champions," Saturday at Akron.

Although Saturday is officially designated at National Golf Day, golfers are allowed to compete any day this week.

The Glen Brook women proved that high handicappers have an excellent chance to win one of the medals awarded by the Professional Golfers Assn. to players, who turn in lower scores than the Round of Champion winner.

Low Scores

Two 68s and a 64 were posted by the women and several scores in the low 70s were also turned in.

The PGA hopes to raise $100,000 through National Golf Day and the eight Pocono Mountain golf course and PGA pros have set a quota of $500 as their share.

The eight participating courses and their pros are: Glen Brook Country Club, Sam Kinder; Shawnee Inn, Harry Obitz; Mountain Manor, Ray Lambert; Tannertown, Jack Weigart; Buck Hill, Ted Beadie; Pocono Manor, Jack Cuttle, Skytop, Harold Calloway and Water Gap Country Club, Walt Thiel.

Fred Waring, Shawnee Inn proprietor and comedian Jackie Gleason will try and win medals at Shawnee today.

Rocky Sixth Gives Gap 8-3 Win Over Strouds

HAL JACOBSEN pitched five strong innings Thursday, before running into trouble in the sixth, as the Strouds dropped an 8-3 decision to Wind Gap on the winner's field.

Jacobsen allowed the winners a single run in the second frame and heading into the sixth was working with a 3-1 lead. But in the sixth he was touched for three unearned runs before giving way to Al Schoch.

The Gappers treated Schoch roughly. They slammed four hits and pushed across three more runs off the reliever.

All Singles

The Strouds managed only five hits, all singles off Bill Seafass, who went the distance for Wind Gap. Al McCormick poked two hits and Randy Morris, Bill Metzgar and Tom Barrow each hit one.

Bill Fisher smashed a solo homerun and Tom Sisoluk had a double for the Gappers, the only extra-base hit in the game.

Ralph Terry started for the Yankees but bowed out for a pinch hitter in the fourth. James, who held the White Sox hitless in the fifth and sixth innings, was credited with the victory, his second without a defeat.

Puerto Rican Boxer Dies After 3 Unconscious Days

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Pacheco, a Puerto Rican-born lightweight who dreamed of earning gold and glory in the ring, died early Thursday of injuries suffered in his first main event.

The curly haired, good looking youngster, married and the father of a 26-day-old girl, succumbed at 5:05 a.m. in Roosevelt Hospital.

He never regained consciousness since he was knocked out with just 11 seconds left of the tenth and final round of his feature bout with Benny Gordon of New York at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Pacheco was the sixth fighter, amateur and pro, to die of injuries inflicted in the rings of the world this year, according to Ring Magazine.

On the hospital record, the fighter was listed as 19. But the State Athletic Commission said Pacheco had filed a birth certificate showing he was 21 and swore to its correctness. Gordon's birth certificate listed him as 20. Under commission rules a fighter must be 20 to box 10 rounds.

Tommy's father, mother, two brothers and two sisters witnessed the tragic fight and went with him to the hospital. They were joined there by his wife, Judith, 19.

The stricken fighter had been worked over in the ring for an hour by two commission physicians and the police emergency squad. Then he was taken to the hospital. Dr. Howard Dunbar performed a 90-minute operation to remove a blood clot of the brain.
